

Pam Withers inspires writers, encourages reading and engages audiences.

An award-winning author, Pam speaks about her best-selling outdoor adventure novels, particularly popular with boys. Final five are hi-lo & okay for middle grade.

Cave-In: Teen cavers try to prevent a sinkhole disaster.

Mountain Runaways: Will three siblings survive in the wilds?

The Parkour Club: How fast do you have to run to escape?

Drone Chase: Can Ray's drone skills stop bear poachers?

Stowaway: Sailing away leads to dangerous people.

Tracker's Canyon: Will his rescue skills lead to a trap?

Andreo's Race: Pursuing the truth gets Andreo entangled with a gang.

First Descent: Kayaking a wild river becomes a fight for survival.

Going Vertical: Biography of an extreme kayaker. [NF]

Mountainboard Maniacs: Boarding down an erupting volcano.

BMX Tunnel Run: A maze of tunnels with night-vision goggles.

Wake's Edge: This wakeboard school has too much action.

Vertical Limits: A solo climb becomes a rescue operation.

Surf Zone: Surfboards offer the only escape off this island.

Dirtbike Daredevils: Disaster challenges these free-style maniacs.

Skater Stuntboys: Landing movie roles leads to trouble.

Adrenalin Ride: The mountain-bike descent of their lives.

Peak Survival: A heli-snowboarding/skiing trip goes wrong.

Raging River: Paddling raging water to save a stranded party.

Breathless: Bev learns that dieting & scuba diving don't mix.

Camp Wild: Wilf escapes from camp by canoe.

Daredevil Club: Kip's friends do dangerous dares.

Bungee Jump: A haunted bridge invites mysterious mishaps.

Paintball Island: Can paintball strategy save an island's wildlife?

Her lively presentation for grades 4-12 includes:

- Short readings
- Tales of her own adventures
- Humorous anecdotes of her research
- Patience & persistence to achieve success
- Special encouragement to boys
- The importance of rewriting & accepting criticism
- Tips on writing & getting published
- Extreme-sports video clips

Presenter fee $300 ($500/$700 for 2 or 3 sessions). Includes expenses, no maximum audience size.

"Our students are still talking about Pam's visit! She's a very engaging speaker. Her combination of book talks, personal experience, video clips, props, and audience participation, kept our large audience attentive and wanting more!"

Sunnyside Elementary, Idaho Falls, ID

"Exciting, informative, fast-paced, and thoroughly engaging."

LaConner School District, WA

To book an event with Pam, email her through www.pamwithers.com